NEIGHBORHOOD PROFILE: ROXBURY-NO. DORCHESTER

Issued September, 1967

Reissued January, 1969

This profile was one of a series compiled during the fall of 1967. Each profile was the joint effort of a member of the Planning and Evaluation staff and the neighborhood coordinator for the area involved. The purpose of creating such profiles was to aid in decision making on the use of ABCD funds for 1968. The sections of the profile other than those of a statistical nature were designed to pinpoint the specific problems of the neighborhood in the fall of 1967. Limitations on the staff resources of the Planning and Evaluation Department have precluded an up-dating of the profiles. However, because of continuing requests for the profiles they are being reissued at this time.

INTRODUCTION

Among the most important units in Boston's War on Poverty are the city's low-income neighborhoods, all of which share certain common problems but each of which has a unique set of characteristics distinguishing it from the rest of the city. Just as the various neighborhoods differ in their physical appearance, so do their populations differ, in age, in race, and in a whole range of characteristics. Common to people of all the low-income neighborhoods are such problems as unemployment, low educational attainment and poor health. The relative importance of these problems varies, however, among the neighborhoods and reflects the different characteristics of their residents.

Not only do Boston's neighborhoods differ from one another in their social aspects but also in the amount and quality of resources which are now being used to meet the needs of their residents. While some neighborhoods receive relatively satisfactory services in certain problem areas, the services in these areas are clearly inadequate in other neighborhoods. In all the neighborhoods certain significant gaps between needs and resources are apparent and the coordination of various efforts to resolve the problems of the poor is weak and sporadic.

An essential step in developing effective strategies for lessening the incidence of poverty, on a neighborhood as well as on a city-wide basis is collecting and analyzing information on the conditions contributing to and resulting from poverty and on the scope of current efforts to better these conditions. By examining needs and evaluating the impact of current services, it is possible to make rational recommendations for the re-allocation of existing resources and to justify requests for additional funds to ensure that services be provided with maximum effectiveness.

This neighborhood analysis is intended to provide such data on needs and resources in a form which makes it readily understood for general information purposes. It is designed so that it may be revised as necessary on the basis of suggestions from those who use it and so that it may be updated and refined as new data becomes available.

The analysis, which is divided into eight major sections, begins with a discussion of the characteristics of the population of the neighborhood, including total numbers, income, age, sex and racial composition. The needs of the neighborhood's population are then outlined under such headings as health, education, employment and economic development. On the basis of preferences expressed by representatives of the neighborhood community, these needs are ranked in order of importance as are the groups to which the community feels programs should be addressed. Services in the neighborhood,

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the study of the history of the United States. It is argued that a knowledge of the past is essential for a full understanding of the present. The author then goes on to discuss the various factors that have shaped the development of the United States, including the role of the government, the economy, and the culture.

In the second part of the paper, the author discusses the role of the government in the development of the United States. It is argued that the government has played a crucial role in shaping the country's history, and that it continues to play a significant role in the present. The author then goes on to discuss the various factors that have shaped the development of the government, including the role of the courts, the legislature, and the executive branch.

The third part of the paper discusses the role of the economy in the development of the United States. It is argued that the economy has played a crucial role in shaping the country's history, and that it continues to play a significant role in the present. The author then goes on to discuss the various factors that have shaped the development of the economy, including the role of the market, the government, and the technology.

The fourth part of the paper discusses the role of the culture in the development of the United States. It is argued that the culture has played a crucial role in shaping the country's history, and that it continues to play a significant role in the present. The author then goes on to discuss the various factors that have shaped the development of the culture, including the role of the arts, the media, and the education system.

both those provided through ABCD and by other agencies, are catalogued in categories roughly corresponding to the need categories, and those programs funded by OEO are briefly evaluated. Finally, the overall system of efforts to meet problems in the neighborhood is examined and recommendations for changes are presented.

The information included in this analysis is presented as much as possible in the form of hard statistics, identified by source and date. Where the information involved subjective judgments the person or group expressing the opinion is also identified. In cases in which special circumstances were present or where discrepancies of fact or opinion existed, explanatory comments are included.

The neighborhood analysis is meant to be used by a number of persons or groups for those purposes for which they feel it may be most helpful. First, it is a basic document for neighborhood social planning, both on a comprehensive and on an individual project basis. Second, it will provide central ABCD staff with information essential to the design and funding of plans and programs which affect the neighborhood as a part of the broader city system. Third, it may help to provide a common language for discussion and cooperation between ABCD and Neighborhood Area Planning Action Councils (APACs) on the one hand, and outside agencies on the other.

Figure 1 is a line graph showing the effect of the concentration of the inhibitor on the rate of polymerization. The y-axis is labeled "Rate of polymerization" and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The x-axis is labeled "Concentration of inhibitor" and ranges from 0 to 1.0. The curve starts at (0, 1.0) and decreases as the concentration of inhibitor increases, approaching 0.5 at a concentration of 1.0.

I. GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS OF THE POPULATION:

A. Total Population

1. Number of Persons Living in Area: 70,200
(1964 ABCD Poverty Indices projection from 1960 U.S. Censes)
- The last U.S. Census count figure for Roxbury-North Dorchester was 82,247 in 1960*. Projections have assumed a decline in population since that date.

2. Number of Families: 16,874
(1964 ABCD Poverty Indices projection from 1960 U.S. Census)
- The 1960 Census tallied 19,770 families in Roxbury-North Dorchester.

3. Number of Families in Public Housing: 1,044 Occupied Units
(BHA figure for March, 1966)
- There are public housing projects in the Roxbury-North Dorchester target area housing a total population of 3,670 persons. The projects, by type, number of units, and population are:

4. Number of Unrelated Individuals:

(Population in Roxbury-North Dorchester has been declining drastically. In 1950, a total of 107,899 persons lived in the area. From 1950 to 1960, this population decreased by 23.7%. In the future, continued population loss appears likely as a result of the vast (502 acres) urban renewal project in Roxbury's Washington Park Area. A total population of 25,922, or 6,467 families, were estimated to live in the renewal area in 1962. In 1964, ABCD, in its proposal for a Roxbury-North Dorchester Community Action Program noted, "At this time urban renewal is the most significant thrust for change in Roxbury-North Dorchester."
(In May, 1967, according to the Boston Globe, 1,053 units were either completed or in construction in the Urban Renewal Area.)

E. Racial Composition

1. Number of Whites: 40,807 (1960 U.S.Census)

Percent of Total Population: 49.6 (1960)

(The number of whites in Roxbury-North Dorchester has declined significantly in recent years. In 1950, 89,068 whites lived in Roxbury-North Dorchester. From 1950 to 1960, their numbers declined by 54.2%.

(Among the white community, considerable ethnic heterogeneity persists in Roxbury-North Dorchester. The 1960 Census lists a total of 11,087 foreign-born persons living in the area, or 27.2% of all whites. In order of importance, the national groups present in Roxbury-North Dorchester are Canadian, Russian, Irish, and Italian.

2. Number of Negroes: 41,439 (1960 U.S.Census)

Percent of Total Population: 50.4% (1960)

(The Negro population of Roxbury-North Dorchester has increased dramatically in recent years, apparently from a high rate of natural increase combined with significant net in-migration. In 1950, 11,117 Negroes lived in the area. From 1950 to 1960, their numbers increased by 128.7%.

II. NEEDS OF THE POPULATION:

A. Community Organization

Area Coordinator states: "The Roxbury-North Dorchester GNRP is a complex community comprised of a number of neighborhoods. Within the total community exists a maze of agencies, group organizations, etc., which are all participating in some measure of action, usually at the neighborhood level; for example, the Highland Park Council, the Orchard Park Tenants Association, and the Sub-Area Committees. There is an apparent need for coordination of resources on the non-professional level (this is extremely important as the agencies have access to resources that are vital to this community's existence). In the immediate past, there has been an extremely time-consuming, expensive, and minimally productive duplication of effort.

"An attempt to alleviate some of these problems could be initiated by a well-planned community organization effort of neighborhood people and professionals, who begin to tie in some of these functioning groups, agencies, etc., into each other, in order that they can function effectively on a community basis as well as at the neighborhood level."

There has been no consistent and thorough division of Roxbury-North Dorchester into sub-neighborhoods. The following schemes have been used by ABCD and various other Boston agencies:

UCS DISTINGUISHES 10 "Health and Welfare Neighborhoods" included wholly or partially in Roxbury-North Dorchester, 7 in Roxbury and 3 in North Dorchester (ABCD, in its 1964 proposal, used these neighborhoods as a basis for analysis).

The Roxbury neighborhoods are:

1. Dudley Street East
2. Dudley Street South
3. Egleston Square
4. Grove Hall West
5. Lower Roxbury
6. Mission Hill and
7. Warren Street

The North Dorchester Neighborhoods are:

8. Franklin Park
9. Grove Hall East
10. Uphams Corner

Roxbury-North Dorchester

The BRA DISTINGUISHES 5 NEIGHBORHOODS:

1. Lower Roxbury
2. Uphams Corner
3. Washington Park

B. Child Development

1. Number of Pre-School Children in Low-Income Families:

8,000*

*Area Coordinator estimates there are 8,000 pre-school children in low-income Roxbury-North Dorchester families. This estimate would appear to be rather high, as in 1960 there were a total of 12,221 pre-school children living in the area and only 26.2% of families had incomes under $3,000.

IV. INVENTORY OF OEO-FUNDED, ABCD-SPONSORED PROGRAMS:

(The following is a list of programs existing in March, 1967. Since that time, the Roxbury-North Dorchester program structure has been radically changed. The OEO proposal from the Roxbury-North Dorchester APAC for the funding period April 1 to December 31, 1967, describes the new structure as having under the APAC two Multi-Purpose Centers, one Neighborhood Service Center, and three Neighborhood Program Centers. These are designed to handle city-wide programs, financed by OEO "ear-marked" funds, such as Manpower and Head Start, and some limited neighborhood program activities, such as tutoring and home guidance, formerly carried on by the Neighborhood Action Centers under the auspices of agencies such as St. Marks Social Center and the BRA.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the origin of life. It is shown that the problem is one of the most important and most difficult in the history of science. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of life, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation. This theory is based on the fact that life is a complex of many different parts, and that these parts are all derived from a common ancestor. The author also discusses the possibility of life being introduced from other planets, and shows that this is also a possibility.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human race. It is shown that the human race is a very young race, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human race, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human mind. It is shown that the human mind is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human soul, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human body. It is shown that the human body is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human body, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human language. It is shown that the human language is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human language, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human culture. It is shown that the human culture is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human culture, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

8. The eighth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human art. It is shown that the human art is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human art, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

9. The ninth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human science. It is shown that the human science is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human science, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

10. The tenth part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the origin of the human religion. It is shown that the human religion is a very complex organ, and that it is still in the process of evolution. The author discusses the various theories of the origin of the human religion, and shows that the most plausible is the theory of spontaneous generation.

VIII. EVALUATION OF TOTAL PROGRAM SYSTEM

(The following evaluation is compiled from statements by the Area Coordinator)

1. Effective Linkage Between Programs

"Totally inadequate. All programs currently operating in Roxbury-North Dorchester are sub-contracted directly to agencies. The following are the net results:

- a) Fragmented program system
- b) Lack of cooperation and coordination between programs
- c) Administrative and operational coordination of programs is minimized and in some instances almost non-existent
- d) Large gaps exist in total program delivery system. Parts of the community are underserved or not serviced at all; other segments of the community are provided with a maximum of services
- e) Efficient administration of the total system is minimal; total administration cost is excessive (SEE: Appendix 3)"

2. Emphasis of Total Program system on Particular Problems in the Area

"Erratic. In some program areas this is very good, and in others it is very poor; the major problem seems to be in the gaps in the total delivery system and in the administration and coordination of programs."

Neighborhood Profile:
Roxbury-North Dorchester

IX. RECOMMENDATIONS

(The following recommendations are compiled)
(from statements by the Area Coordinator)

"In view of the fact that the major problems seem to be administration, coordination, and delivery of program (s), the following recommendations are being suggested, as measures which if carefully implemented would rectify many, if not all, of the aforementioned problems.

1. "Central administration of all programs funded to operate in the 1967-68 Fiscal Year at the neighborhood level, preferably by the Roxbury-North Dorchester APAC. Central administration of programs would reduce excessive administrative costs (SEE: Attached Appendix 3). This would hopefully eliminate most of the duplicate administration that apparently stifles efficient delivery of services.

NOTE: This would exclude sub-contracted Head Start Programs.

2. "Central coordination of neighborhood and city-wide resources, organic to Head Start Programs and Child Development Centers. This responsibility, which would include implementation of effective linkage as well as coordination, could be handled by the Roxbury-North Dorchester APAC
3. "With the exception of Head Start Programs, no programs should be sub-contracted out on a program-by-program basis. The APAC's in other target areas in Boston have been able to administer programs at the neighborhood level: There is no reason why the Roxbury-North Dorchester APAC couldn't perform this function also.

Neighborhood Profile:
Roxbury-North Dorchester

4. "When reviewing proposals for the Fiscal Year 1967-68 major consideration should be given to types of services already existing in specific neighborhoods: for example, programs funded by private corporations, UCS, etc. Sections of Roxbury-North Dorchester are provided with many diverse kinds of programs and services, while others receive minimal services, if any at all.

"The type of funding pattern that is used by the Community Action Agency has a very definite effect upon administration and delivery of services."
